

Programme

Launch of AID – Agora for Interdisciplinary Debate

7 May 2012

University of Helsinki room 6

13.15 - 13.45

Uskali Mäki (UH, Centre of Excellence in the Philosophy of the Social Sciences) “Interdisciplinarity, philosophy of science, and AID”

13.45 - 14.15

John O’Neill (University of Manchester) “From Frankfurt to Vienna: Two models of interdisciplinary research”

14:15 - 14:45

Alan Kirman (Université Paul Cezanne, Marseille) “Economics and entomology”

14.45 - 15.30

Janne Hukkinen (UH, Dept of Social Studies) “Interdisciplinarity in environmental policy research”

15.30 - 15.45

Break

15.45 - 16.15

Markku Kivinen (UH, Aleksanteri Institute) “Russian modernisation as an interdisciplinary challenge”

16.15 - 16.45

Jussi Pakkasvirta (UH, Dept of Political and Economic Studies) “Interdisciplinarity and democratic learning culture”

16.45 - 18.00

Panel: Reflections on the past hours and on the coming months Tarja Knuuttila, Chiara Lombardini, Sami Pihlström, Kristina Rolin, Teivo Teivainen

18.00 ->

Wine and snacks – and more talking